8:30 A.M. to 4:00 P.M.

Team Safety provides an approach to planning for, assembling, and building effective safety and health teams. This course includes a self-assessment to determine your level of understanding, and involves interactive exercises for you to apply newly learned concepts to building and managing safety teams. Learn the distinction between safety teams and safety committees and how the two compliment each other.

Why Should You Attend?

This course will help any supervisors, team leaders, or management personnel who have the responsibility of putting together teams for the safety, health, or environmental industry. It will teach those with little or no experience the processes of putting together a good team. Also, it is a great refresher course for those who work in a team environment looking for more efficient ways to put together and manage a safety team.
